Brisk Polling

for 3 MP and 2 MLA seats

Counting of votes on Nov. 6

Mandya District-in-charge Minister C.S. Puttaraju and his wife Nagamma after casting their votes at Chinakurali in Pandavapura taluk this morning.

Mandya, Nov. 3 (NG&DM)- In what is considered as crucial for all the three major political parties — Congress, BJP and JD(S) — with Lok Sabha (LS) polls just a few months away, the voting in the bypoll for three Lok Sabha seats and two Assembly seats began on a moderate note this morning.

This by-election is also being dubbed as a semi-final to the 2019 Lok Sabha polls.

The polling, which began at 7 am in Ballari, Mandya and Shivamogga LS Constituencies and Ramanagara and Jamkhandi Assembly segments, will conclude at 5 pm. The counting of votes will be taken up on Nov.6.

The BJP's last ditch attempt on Friday seeking postponement of voting in Ramanagara as the party candidate L. Chandrashekar backed off from the contest and rejoined the Congress just two days before the polls, came a cropper, with the Election Commission officials saying there was no provision in the law to postpone the polls in the light of Thursday's development.

The voting picked up in Mandya as the day progressed with the electorate lining up at polling booths across the Constituency. Mandya LS seat has eight Assembly segments — Mandya, Maddur, Malavalli, Srirangapatna, Melukote, Nagamangala, K.R. Pet and K.R. Nagar (Mysuru District) — with a total 16,84,446 voters.

The average polling percentage was recorded at 15 per cent till 11 am, with Maddur recording the highest percentage at 16.83 and K.R. Nagar, the lowest at 10.47 per cent.

Pursuit of greener pastures

The nation's masses are being called upon by public speakers of all hues to be united and patriotic for ensuring solidarity as well as sovereignty of the country in a steadily deteriorating scenario of unrest all over the land. The only perceptible response to the clarion call for contributing to the overall progress of the nation, particularly during the speeches by the law-makers in different elected bodies in the range of Gram Panchayats to the country's Parliament seems to be the road shows and oath-taking as well as high decibel sloganeering on many occasions such as Independence Day, Republic Day, birthday remembrance of the land's saints, statesmen and various legends of the past such as Chennamma of Kittur, Lakshmibai of Jhansi, Rayanna of Sangolli and Veer Savarkar, the latest to be bestowed that honour being Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, the Iron Man of India, credited with the monumental achievement of sending 500-plus rulers of different regions of the land packing, including the King of the erstwhile Princely State of Mysore. After high hopes of the country's people marching on a path of revival and progress, they seem to have drifted from the resolve, slipping backwards.

A report by the Asian Development Bank published recently and quoted by a widely circulated daily, has brought out that 17 million Indians had left the country in 2017, making India the nation with the highest number of emigrants in the world. While their leaving the country in pursuit of greener pastures abroad has its fair side, the causes of the phenomenon need to be studied through the prism of reality.

In an article published recently in the British daily broadsheet, The Telegraph (founded in 1855), India's case of movement of emigrants has been discussed, pointing out that the more likely cause for Indians leaving the country is distress — economic and social — and discrimination. The United Arab Emirates and The United States of America, nations with better employment opportunities, appear to be the preferred destinations for Indians. The particular matter of educated youth, marked for their academic merit, moving out with no intention of returning to their home country reminds one of the Biblical narrative about the prodigal son, who first deserts his father with a share of the family estate as he sets out but returns after squandering the wealth only be welcomed with love and glee. But, the case of parents whose educated children have gone away continues to be different, creating the prestigious class of NRIs (non-returning Indians).

While the country's successive governments are obliged to adhere to the principle of social and economic inclusiveness of all sections of the population, the intent being noble, some sections have faced discrimination in the process of implementing measures in compliance of the principle. More need not be said on the disenchantment caused to the land's educated youth.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

VIVA VOTER UNCLE!: The district administration of Guna in poll-bound Madhya Pradesh has devised an innovative technique to inspire voters to step out of their comfort zones and cast their ballots. It has organised an* aarti (part of puja ritual) in praise of voters. The aarti *goes something like this: "Jai voter kakka, bolo jay voter kakka/Tumhare vote se badhta pragati ka chakka." (Viva voter uncle, your vote keeps the wheels of prosperity rolling). The four-minute* aarti *has been sung by a local music teacher and the recording is played at high-footfall places such as village squares and chaupals. After riveting passers-by and becoming a point of discussion, it will be sent by the district administration to the State government for use on a larger scale. — In Business Standard.

Man on stray dogs rescue mission

Mexico City: 48-year-old Edgardo "Perros" Zuniga, who left his home in Jalisco in 2013, has been travelling all around Mexico on a tricycle, looking for abandoned and injured dogs to rescue and put up for adoption. He has rescued over 400 dogs in the last 5 years.

Over the last five years, he has travelled through 14 Mexican States and rescued over 400 abandoned dogs, by nursing them back to health and later placing them in the hands of staff at various adoption centers. He also helped dogs that weren't eligible for adoption, by treating their illnesses, feeding them and doing everything in his power to improve their lives before continuing his journey. He travels with a pack of loyal dogs that make up his 'rescue team' and that he claims make his job a lot easier by showing the strays he encounters that they can trust him.

Artist's twisted wired sculptures

Tokyo: A young Japanese art graduate is able to twist copper and brass wire into pretty much anything he sets his mind to, from sculptures that look like drawn manga, to slithering snakes and giant insects.

Tsutamoto Dawiki, first made headlines two years ago, when his detailed wire sculptures imitating manga drawings went viral. Placed against a white background, his artworks looked exactly like manga comics, even though they were actually twisted pieces of wire. Those were impressive enough, but Tsutamoto has stepped up his game even more over these last few years, and is now specialising in more complex wire sculptures, some of which are simply mind-blowing.

'Toxic cloud' in Garudachar Layout

Sir,

One of the major causes of air pollution in Delhi is said to be due to the stubble burning by farmers in Punjab and Haryana. Smoke from this burning produces a cloud of particulates visible in images from space, and has produced a "toxic cloud" in New Delhi, resulting in declarations of an air-pollution emergency.

Something akin to this is being experienced by the residents of Garudachar Layout in city. They are suffering a lot because some miscreants set fire to the garbage every evening on Ring Road near Hinkal Lake. There are mounds of garbage lying around and the place is infested with snakes, vultures and stray dogs. The smoke wafts across and spreads all around the Layout causing air pollution, in turn leading to breathing problems, especially for those suffering from Asthma. Hope the authorities concerned will take immediate action and ease the problem of the residents.

MGP writes to Pratap Simha seeking footpath on Valmiki-Hunsur Road

Mysuru, Nov. 3- The lack of footpath on Valmiki Road where the new Maharani's College for Commerce and Management has come up is causing problems to thousands of girl students studying there.

Bringing this issue to the notice of MP Pratap Simha, the Mysore Grahakara Parishat (MGP) in a letter to the MP has stated that though he and the officers concerned had inspected the place some time back regarding the problem, no steps have been taken so far to solve the issue.

The MGP has also demanded to create space for a free left turn at the junction of Valmiki Road and Hunsur Road (that leads to Jaladarshini Guest House) so that the vehicles coming from Valmiki Road side can take a free left turn.

However, one of the MGP members told Star of Mysore that it has come to their notice that a small building (which could be unauthorised) at the junction was causing problem.

Hence, it has asked Pratap Simha to direct the officials concerned to construct a wide footpath for the safety and convenience of the students of the college, according to a press release from S. Sobana, MGP Working President.

Kannada musings on Rajyotsava

November 1st is Kannada Rajyotsava, our State's birthday. It was on this day in 1956 that all Kannada-speaking provinces were brought together and named Mysore or Mysore State under the States Reorganisation Act. Then on November 1, 1973, it was renamed as Karnataka.

Since our States were created with language as its basis, each State is very proud and protective of its language, so also Karnataka. But in recent times with massive migration of people from other States, Kannada is spoken even less.

According to a study, in Bengaluru 68% of its 1.2 crore population speak languages other than Kannada. Unfortunately for Kannada, even Kannadigas speak their own dialects rather than Kannada.

For example, all Muslims in Karnataka speak Urdu unlike in Tamil Nadu or Kerala where everyone speaks the State language. Then in districts like Kodagu they speak the local dialect called Kodava thakk. Similarly in Mangaluru, they have Tulu and Konkani. In North Karnataka, they speak a mix of Kannada and Marathi. Obviously Kannada has its own challenges from within, but the new wave of migration has really given it a beating.

So, the question is why is Kannada losing out? North Indians in Chennai speak Tamil but in Karnataka they don't. Why? Are Kannadigas too accommodative? Should Kannadigas insist on speaking Kannada thereby forcing the new migrants to learn the language like how Tamils have done? But may be first Kannadigas should speak Kannada before asking others to do so.

Even our leaders don't do their bit. Most Karnataka leaders, be it B.S. Yeddyurappa, H.D. Kumaraswamy, D.K. Shivakumar or Siddharamaiah, when they speak to national media they speak bad and broken English instead of replying in Kannada, the language they are most articulate in. Politicians from other States speak in their mother-tongue and let the media deal with translating it rather than speak bad English creating ambiguity.

Also pro-Kannada organisations should lobby the government to give free or inexpensive spoken Kannada classes in the University because spoken Kannada is more useful than written Kannada and what is useful people will use, which makes it easy to promote and propagate.

In fact, young IT entrepreneurs have done more for Kannada in the last few years than by various organisations and the government. These entrepreneurs have launched Kannada learning apps and websites. Apps like Kannada Baruthe, Learn Kannada Quickly and Day2Day Kannada and websites like KannadaGottilla.com, organises free workshop where they teach Kannada.

Now, the Kannada and Culture Department and the city-based Central Institute of Indian Languages (CIIL) are offering a 12-month postal course in Kannada for just Rs. 250. People who are interested can obtain applications from the Postal Kannada Course Project, CIIL, Manasagangothri. Unfortunately, there is an age limit; it is for those between 18-50 years of age. But should there be an age limit to learn a language?

Our activists and politicians keep harping about Kannada. However, most of them send their own children to private English medium schools but force poor children to go to Kannada medium government schools. It is unfair and worse they are playing with the future of poor students. That is why H.D. Kumaraswamy must be appreciated for his announcement yesterday.

The Karnataka CM, speaking at an event yesterday, said that his government had initiated steps to implement the decision that there shall be English education in government schools ! He said, "The government wants to ensure that rural students learn English so that they can remain competitive."

This reminds us, back in 2010 the then Bangalore University Vice-Chancellor Dr. Prabhu Dev, speaking during an interaction with the Federation of Karnataka Chambers of Commerce and Industry (FKCCI), said that the rural students have a long way to go before they can catch up with the competitive corporate India.

Students from rural areas or even from the outskirts of big cities and towns do not stand a chance for a job in the high-profile sector, as they lack English-speaking skills and public etiquette, the VC said and added, "They are village simpletons whose body language is poor and their knowledge of computers not apt. How can they fit into the world of style and statement, flamboyance and finesse and above all, good English?"

This is true, but the good Vice-Chancellor must also know that the students coming out of urban India aren't that corporate ready either. Even the urban students have a long way to go when it comes to etiquette and being a corporate human resource. That is why many Corporations spend a lot of money for soft skills training which includes simple manners such as table etiquette and social etiquette.

Now, our CM is right. In India, English is the language that symbolises aspiration, intelligence, modernity and a language that has delivered prosperity to millions. It is the language that has made us employable and competitive in the global market. It is the global business language, according to "Harvard Business Review" Report.

A 2014 Report from the Centre for Research and Debates in Development Policy states that men in India who spoke fluent English earned 34 percent higher wages. But while it is a great asset to know English, it is important to know your regional language too from a sociological point of view.

English is our business language, but in Karnataka Kannada is the language of the government. If you want to effectively communicate with the Police, local government or even in shops, then Kannada is King.

So it is better if non-Kannada speakers, looking to settle down in Karnataka, learn the language if they want to be accepted and be fully integrated into the State. Else, they will always be "outsiders." Also learning the local language is a way of showing respect to the State, which also endears one to the people of the State.

More importantly, local language has an unmatched emotional and communicative value. That is why Nelson Mandela said, "If you talk to a man in a language he understands, it goes to his head. But if you talk to him in his language, it goes to his heart."

Mysore Fashion Week Oodles of Local Talents

Tiny-tots, dressed in traditional attire designed by Jayanthi Ballal, walking the ramp along with the models was an added attraction at the show.

Kavitha, a pre-school teacher and Masuma, a teacher at a school for special children, were among the fashion-conscious divas from the audience.

It was an evening of glamour, glitz and high fashion, as ace fashion entrepreneur and designer Jayanthi Ballal and her team kick-started the fifth edition of Mysore Fashion Week at The Windflower Resorts and Spa in Mysuru yesterday. And like always, the show mesmerised the spectators with a fusion of diverse couture lines by various designers across the country. The audience was treated to a blend of modern colour palettes, eye-catching silhouettes and accessories, and contemporary Indian gowns.

While the event was attended by the fashion-conscious, not-so-fashion-conscious and the fashion-curious, what was interesting to note was that this season, the three-day Mysore Fashion Week has been orchestrated as a platform to promote local talent and aspiring models. Blending the old with the new, the runway presented the city with an assortment of established designers and models, along with aspiring models and stylists. It was encouraging to see designers as young as 23 years old showcase their collections at the event. Madhu and Jayalakshmi, upcoming designers from Bengaluru, said: "The platform is an excellent opportunity for relatively new designers like us. Our portfolio is strengthened and we get fresh perspectives and ideas from stylists across the country. At this event, we are excited to learn more about 'pattern of sleeves' and 'pockets' in Indian gowns.

Fashion maestro, Jayanthi Ballal has used this platform deftly to promote Mysuru-based models. Radhika Chetan, Nivedita Gowda and 'Mrs. India Universe', Hemamalini Lakshman from the city have been chosen as the show-stoppers for her collections.

As the evening grew, the crowd swelled. When asked what brings them to an event like this, Kavitha, a pre-school teacher and Masuma, a teacher at a school for special children, said: "Jayanthi's collections definitely! As Mysureans, we are proud of the strides she has made in the fashion industry and we are looking forward to see her creations, this year as well."

When asked if Mysuru has what it takes to be a "fashion hub", here's what some fashion-conscious divas from the audience had to tell us, "Definitely. Today, Mysuru is developing and Mysureans are becoming more aware of the latest fashion and trends. The spending power of people, especially the younger lot, has increased and they are not hesitant to spend the big bucks on trendy design wear. Given the same, I'd definitely say Mysuru is well on its way to be a fashion destination."

Another audience member responded to the same question, "Mysuru is in no way behind to other places with respect to fashion. What makes us stand out, is our open-minded attitude to the old and the new, the modern influences and the heritage. The people's flexible and open-minded attitudes towards fashion and life in general is what makes Mysuru a fashion-hub today."

If that is indeed true, then we'd say Mysuru has what it takes to be a fashion runway for fashion gurus say, 'Style is not a size, it is an attitude.'

'And loads of attitude we have,' Mysureans say. —Kavitha Mhatre

This evening at the Mysore Fashion Week, actress Swara Bhaskar and celebrity choreographer Kishen Bilagali will set the ramp on fire as they walk for designers Arpitha Randeep (Mysuru) and Ken Ferns (Mumbai) respectively.

Mysuru, Nov.3- Noted Kannada Film Director T.S. Nagabharana called upon youth to strive hard to promote art, culture, music of the land to achieve international standard.

He was speaking at the five-day National Youth Music Festival organised jointly by Sanskar Bharti and Avadhoota Datta Peetham - Sri Ganapathy Sachchidananda Ashrama at Nada Mantap in the Ashrama premises here on Nov.1. The growth of culture and music is must for development of robust healthy nation, he said.

Stating that man has moved away from nature, he wanted the people to give thrust for conservation of environment, flora and fauna as such measures are a must for ecological balance. "Landslides, rain damages that occurred in Kodagu and Kerala were the result of excessive exploitation of nature. These incidents were warning to people to protect nature," he felt.

Highlighting that music and nature are interlinked, he said promotion of music and conservation of nature is necessary to build healthy society as both had curative powers.

Speaking after inaugurating the festival, member of erstwhile royal family of Mysore Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar said that Britishers had adopted divide and rule policy to continue their supremacy in the country.

"They divided Karnataka as Madras Karnataka, Hyderabad Karnataka and Bombay Karnataka to keep the State disunited," he said. Remembering the contributions of Aluru Venkatarayaru for unification of Karnataka on linguistic lines, he said that Aluru Venkatarayaru mentioned that Karnataka State was formed after the great sacrifices and struggle by people of various walks of life. He had mentioned all these sacrifices in his book 'Karnataka Gatha Vaibhava.'

Yaduveer stressed on the need to promote art, Kannada culture and customs of the land.

District Minister G.T. Devegowda launched the Sanskar Bharti website on the occasion.

Dr. Veerendra Heggade inaugurates Bunts Convention Hall in city

'Sooji Mallige' spreads Dakshina Kannada fragrance

Mysuru, Nov.3 (RKB&SR)- Dharmasthala Dharamdhiri Dr. Veerendra Heggade inaugurated the newly constructed Asha Prakash Shetty Bunts Convention Hall in city this morning.

Earlier, Dr. Veerendra Heggade was brought to podium with a rousing 'Purnakumbha' reception. They also offered 'Gowrava Samarpane' to Dr. Heggade by playing 'Tulunada Geethe.'

Addressing the gathering, Dr. Heggade appreciated the hard-work and dedication of Bunts community people. "They have constituted their own associations, built their own community hall wherever they had settled for business purpose in many towns and cities, both inside and outside the country. They have also contributed immensely for welfare of the local people apart from carrying out their profession without harming others. The other speciality of the Bunts community people is that they acclimatise with local language, beliefs and traditions apart from protecting their nativity," said Dr. Veerendra Heggade.

He also recalled that he often used to visit Mysuru since his childhood days. He said that Mysuru emerged as cultural capital of Karnataka besides drawing world attention because of 'Naada Habba' Dasara festivities and contributions of erstwhile Maharajas of Mysuru.

The city has also been making news for business and concentration of industries from last 25 years, he said.

State Higher Education and District Minister G.T. Devegowda, who was one of the chief guests on the occasion, also spoke. He remembered the contributions of Bunts in the field of folklore arts like Yakshagana, Chande-Maddale, literature, education, politics apart from business.

Sarvotham Shetty, Naryaguttu Shivaprasad Mada, K. Prakash Shetty, CA Surendra Hegde, K. Subramanya Rai, Y.V. Satish Shetty, P. Suresh Alwa and Nandyappa Shetty.

L.R. Shivaramegowda of JD(S) is the JD(S)-Congress coalition candidate, while BJP has fielded former IRS Officer Dr. Siddharamaiah. There are a total of nine candidates in fray, with seven of them Independents, including journalist Kowdle Channappa. Transport Minister D.C. Thammanna cast his vote at Doddarasinakere in Maddur Taluk, where actor and former Minister Ambarish too cast his vote.

However, it is not known whether actress and former Mandya MP Ramya will cast vote at her polling booth at Vidyanagar in Mandya.

In Ramanagara, it seems to be a walkover for JD(S) candidate Anitha Kumaraswamy as the BJP candidate Chandrashekar announced his retirement from the fray on Nov. 1.

As far as the rest of the Constituencies are concerned, there is a direct fight between J. Shantha of the BJP and V.S. Ugrappa of the Congress in Ballari LS; between B.Y. Raghavendra of the BJP and Madhu Bangarappa of the JD(S) in Shivamogga LS and between Anand S. Nyamagouda of the Congress and Srikanth Kulkarni of the BJP in Jamkhandi.

Entrepreneurship Fest at Kautilya

Mysuru, Nov.3- Young entrepreneurs from grades 7 to 10 put on their best efforts to woo customers in the annual entrepreneurship fest 'Vanijya Vihar' organised by Kautilya Vidyalaya, as a tribute to the development of human capital on the occasion of Kannada Rajyotsava, on Nov.1.

The State Flag was unfurled by chief guest Y.G. Chinnaswamy, President of CREDAI, Mysuru and Vasavi Vrunda. Students of grade 10 welcomed the gathering and elaborated the significance of the day.

In his address, Chinnaswamy exhorted the students to nurture mother tongue, self-dependence and develop life skills as their duty towards the motherland.

In his presidential address, Chairman R. Raghu spoke about realising the vision of Prime Minister Narendra Modi. He also expressed his desire in witnessing greater industrial development in the State in order to bring it at par with developed nations.

S.V. Venkatesh, MD and CEO of RiiiT and Dr. M.P. Varsha, Managing Trustee and CEO of Centre for Rural Education Development and Innovative Technologies of India, judged the stalls representing Indian States and Union Territories.

The young entrepreneurs were at their best peddling delicacies, handicrafts and games, ably aided by their mentors and real-life entrepreneurs from all walks of society. Members of public shopped, feasted and played with great enthusiasm.

Patrons contributed generously to the Annapurna food stall, in benefit of the poor, while students have pledged to donate 50 percent of the proceeds to the National Defence Fund, instituted by Prime Minister Modi.

Senior Principal Dr. L. Savitha, Vice-Principal B.B. Radhika and other dignitaries were present on the occasion.
